

Operations Product Line Manager – Domestic

Location: San Jose (California)

A critical position responsible for all aspects of New Product Introduction - the Interface with Product Management, Engineering, Sales & Marketing, Legal and Finance, and the rest of WWOPS and Service in taking PRDs and demand profiles, and bringing new products and enhancements to market. This will include program management and execution, working with CMs, ODMs and JDMs to source, price, coordinate the development to volume production of new products, the management of phase-in/phase-out of products and components, the specification of FRUs, and the development and execution of the necessary agreements.